James Wright Gallery is proud to announce ‘SWEET PRIMAL THINGS’ – this year end celebration and group exhibition of work by twelve California based artists will open on November 15th and be on view through December 21st.

SWEET PRIMAL THINGS is a cross-disciplinary exhibition comprising twelve contemporary California-based artists’ relationships with their quotidian surroundings, explored through the use of modern tools that become the media of the artworks. Roused by the struggle of incessant adaptation required from all of us in order to exist in contemporary social systems, these twelve works offer visceral responses to an inexorable daily life.

Like myriad of molecules bumping into each other, humans are trapped in a ruthless push and pull of navigating Self and reconciling the Other while drenched by stimuli and material objects. As molecules collide and formations are destabilized to create new bonds, so too, humans adjust and evolve ceaselessly as an intrinsic reaction to the sweeping rhythms around us. The structure of an image and the space in which the image presents itself are continuously and vociferously mutating, forcing us to find new language for our modes of creation and press deeper into the thick of epileptic unknown. SWEET PRIMAL THINGS explores the eternal humanoid drive to adjust our methods and assert our truths.

James Wright Gallery (JWG) has expanded from Founder and Director, James Wright's curiosity for the growing convergence of contemporary art and culture. Since 2014, Wright has dedicated himself to developing an internationally engaged gallery program that seeks to exhibit the very best in emerging talent that walks the line of daring intimacy.
